Tom Izzo, Head Coach

Dear MSU Community and Spartan Nation,

I've been blessed to have many great moments in my coaching career. Certainly included among those are the eight trips our University has made to the Final Four. But you should also know that the rally at Breslin Center on Sunday night was one of those special moments. You came out late at night so we could celebrate together, and I'll never forget the enthusiasm and support you showed all of us. One of the great things about Michigan State is the way we all rally to support one another, and that was on full display Sunday night.

We head to Minneapolis this week on a mission to win two more basketball games. We would love nothing more than to celebrate with you once again. Regardless of the outcome, however, I hope that you show the same great class that was on display this past weekend. This is a tremendous opportunity to show how special it is to be a Spartan!

Go Green!
