Homework 15: Circadian Clock
DUE: Monday, November 19

The flowers of some plants open in the morning and close at dusk. Design and describe an experiment that could be used to determine whether these daily rhythms are controlled by the plant’s circadian clock or by the presence or absence of light.

ON Carbonless.

Include: references, research question, design, and prediction of results (graphically).