Study question answers must be typed and single-spaced. Where the question calls for a list, each item on the list should be on its own line. Answers should be BRIEF.

Text: Sands

1. Social workers have an obligation to warn derived from the _Tarasoff_ rulings. Reamer has suggested that four criteria be considered with respect to determining whether to warn a third party of possible harm. Please list these criteria.

Text: Reserve – Rhodes

1. How do each of the following ethical theories/frameworks define “the good” (“good” behavior, “good” acts)?
   - _Utilitarianism:_
   - _Kantianism:_
   - _Rights Theories:_
   - _Marxism:_
   - _Intuitionism:_
   - _Virtue Frameworks:_

2. Define each of the following types of responsibility:
   - _Role responsibility:_
   - _Legal responsibility:_
   - _Causal responsibility:_
   - _Moral responsibility:_

3. Social workers can be faced with agency rules that are unjust and harmful. Sometimes workers violate these rules covertly. However, Rhodes notes that there are two important risks associated with this procedure. What are these two dangers?

Text: Reserve – Saleeby 2: Goldstein

1. Goldstein notes that concentrating on an individual’s disabilities promotes one type of social relationship while concentrating on strengths tends to foster another. What are they?

Text: Reserve - Gambrill

1. What is "confirmation bias?"

2. In many law enforcement agencies, people accused of breaking the law are referred to as "perps" (slang for "perpetrators"). Imagine that you are attending a case conference about a sexual abuse case. The workers at the meeting refer to the individual reported to have carried out the sexual abuse as "the perp" or "the abuser." The individual’s name is rarely used. Why would Gambrill find this to be concerning?

Text: Reserve - Handout: Cross-Linguistic Assessment & Treatment

1. Imagine that you are working with a client who speaks English as a second language and that you are NOT fluent in his or her native language. What points should you consider in determining whether you should use an interpreter?