October 26, MSU Auditorium—To vote, CTs passed under a three-panel mural painted by Charles Pollock and located in the Auditorium’s foyer. Both the mural and the Auditorium building are products of the Works Progress Administration (WPA) of the 1930s and 1940s. The WPA was a social program enacted by President Franklin D. Roosevelt’s “New Deal” that put people, including artists, to work during the “Great Depression.” MSU was one of many communities, countrywide, that benefited. The center panel of the mural, We Assure Freedom to the Free, is pictured above. For more information about New Deal art and architecture in the Lansing and East Lansing area, visit the Kresge Art Museum’s Virtual Walking Tour at http://artmuseum.msu.edu/wpa/Externals/Print.pdf.

While contributions are welcome, they should be constructive and contribute positively to the welfare of our union.

We will accept no attacks on any union leader or member. We will accept thoughtful discussion of all related issues in the letters section, and reserve the right to reply to those that seem to reflect a misunderstanding of the union and its policies.

November seems to be CTU’s time to start anew. With our elections held in October (thank you to all who made this smooth and successful, see page 5), November is the month that we welcome new Board members, set the membership meeting dates for the next year, constitute the Board committees, and plan for planning.

So far, we have done all of the above and have started planning for next year’s bargaining for another contract. We move into another cycle as we close out the last, which makes it pretty hectic in the office at this time of the year.

Of course, we aren’t alone. Everyone is busy—especially those of us involved in the Enterprise Business Solutions change. As the “go live” date approaches, please know that everyone involved has worked hard to make the transition as smooth as possible. But it will take even more effort to get through the next few months.

CTU has been briefed on the work flow and what it might mean for CTs’ work schedules. If you have concerns or questions on how this is playing out in your workplace or how it might affect your holidays, please feel free to call me or the CTU office to talk with a contract administrator. Rumors will abound, but call us for the straight answers. If we don’t know, we can help find the answers. CTU has been told that everything possible is being done to minimize the disruption to campus and employees as we try to fit in family and holiday times.

Speaking of holidays, we are fast approaching that gift-giving time of year. I want to remind you to buy union (see page 7 for help with finding union-made products) if you can. If you cannot, please try for Made in the U.S.A. and Made in Michigan products. If you take a little extra time to plan for supporting our country and state, you can find a lot of great, useful gifts.

One place to start looking is on Facebook. There is a page, We Buy Local Michigan, which showcases a lot of unique Michigan made things. The owner of Reno’s Sports bars created this page to celebrate both products made in Michigan and locally owned businesses dedicated to purchasing local. She invites others to share their favorite Michigan Products and favorite locally owned businesses on this page. Her business also features many Michigan products on the menu, such as BBQ sauces, potato chips and spirits. [Roseann Marsh]

Another business, Michigania, in downtown Lansing, only sells Michigan products. You can also go to www.puremichiganstore.org for more holiday ideas.

I am amazed at how many fun, unique items that are made right in our great state. [Darlene Joy Swiler]

Also, before I close, Happy Thanksgiving to you. My friend calls this the “forgotten holiday,” and she is right. This quiet, food-packed day is wedged between two of the more “glamorous” holidays. Take time to be thankful for all you have and those around you who help you through your days. No matter what your circumstances, there is something to be thankful for. And take some time for yourself too.

The newly elected Executive Board and Audit Committee member were sworn in at the Membership Meeting the following evening.

Although we fell 23 members short of the 50 needed for a quorum at the October 27 meeting, we were able to hold conversations on several topics, including a report by President Bittner on post-retirement health care for new hires.

Bittner reminded the group that the University ended post-retirement health care for employees hired after July 1 of this year. The change means that the University will not provide retiree health care to anyone hired after July 1, 2010.

In her April announcement of the elimination, MSU President Simon acknowledged that the change might require “some adjustments in the compensation approach” and that “any adjustments will be based upon the collective bargaining process. . . .” [Karen O'Connor]

As a result, Bittner reported, the unions and the University have been involved in difficult discussions about the matter for several months.

Finance Committee Member Walt Peebles briefly reviewed our financial statements.

He also reported on the work of current Treasurer Jan Wallace who, with the help of Past Treasurer Jeannine Lee and Financial Manager Patricia Shackleton, has been reclaiming long-term outstanding debts owed to our educational loan program.

On another topic, Peebles said that the changes we made to our dues allocation procedure in July seem to be having the expected impact as far as funding operations.

Bittner then raised the issue of CTU donations to various causes. As an independent union without the resources to fund our own “safety net” or community support programs, traditionally, the CTU has made nominal donations to area organizations, especially those that might assist CTs, retirees or their families. As an organization, we get recognition for the donations and a lot of good will, which can be a real asset, as we saw when the community rallied around us during our 1988 strike.

Usually, the Executive Board makes the decision about these donations. However, years ago, decisions about large donations were routinely brought before the membership. If there was not a quorum, the members present gave the Board direction as to how to proceed.

Bittner asked the attendees if they supported putting discussions about donations on the agenda for Membership Meetings. She also asked if they wanted to consider making larger donations from the Contingency Fund.

Executive Board Committee Assignments

The new Executive Board, at its November 2 meeting, established its Board Committee assignments through October 2011:

The deadline for nominations for the second annual Ruth Jameyson Above and Beyond Award is December 17. [Patricia Elaine Galvin]

The award is designed for a Michigan State University staff member who is pursuing a post-baccalaureate degree. It will recognize a support staff member who most closely exemplifies the contributions, personal characteristics and commitment to MSU demonstrated by Ruth Jameyson, a former MSU staff member.

Nominations will be evaluated on several criteria, including excellence in overall job performance going “Above and Beyond” what is expected.

A stipend of $2,500 will accompany the award and may be used as determined appropriate by the recipient. The recipient will be honored at the Distinguished Staff Award reception on May 10, 2011.

Faculty, administrators, support staff and colleagues are encouraged to nominate a deserving individual. A nominee must be a regular, active support staff employee with at least five years of service to MSU and must be enrolled and attending a post-baccalaureate program at MSU or elsewhere. A description of the award and a link to the nomination form is located at www.hr.msu.edu/recognition/supportstaff/JameysonAward.htm.

Jameyson, who died in 2007 at the age of 100, served as secretary to MSU President Robert S. Shaw from 1938 to 1941 and secretary/administrative assistant to President John A. Hannah from 1941 to 1969. She had a bachelor’s degree in mathematics from Coe College of Iowa and pursued a master’s degree in economics while working full time at MSU.

Donations

By way of example, she pointed out that this is a difficult year for local food banks, and if we made a larger than usual donation, it would be recouped much faster by the Contingency Fund than by the smaller Operating Fund.

The lack of a quorum at Membership Meetings was then addressed, along with suggestions on how to increase attendance and/or amend the CTU Constitution to lower the number of members required for a quorum.

Lively discussions about both contributions and quorums took place, and we can expect to revisit the topics at the January Membership Meeting.

Door prizes: Chris Barden and Pamela Brock won $50 door prizes. Duferia White won coffee and doughnuts for her department.
Since July 1, McNeil said, we have had only six job eliminations, and at this point in time, only seven CTs are currently on layoff.

However, McNeil does not believe we are in the clear. He said that ongoing budget problems at the State level and continuing cuts to higher education almost guarantee future layoffs.

We have had some new hires since July, he reported, but they are for positions outside of the Lansing/East Lansing area or of a technical or specialized nature. (One displaced CT did decide to transfer to Grand Rapids in order to bypass into an open position.)

He emphasized that anyone receiving a layoff notice should 1) not panic and 2) contact your union.

The layoff procedure is complicated, a situation often compounded by the emotional toll of making difficult decisions while facing several (probably unwelcome) changes. CTs might need to decide, for example, whether or not to “bump” someone with less seniority or whether or not to consider positions at a lower level. Your union can help you understand your options, protect you against being pressured and help you sort out the possible consequences of your choices.

McNeil stressed the need to prepare for any future downsizing by keeping our skills and résumés up to date. Applications and résumés need to completely and accurately reflect our skills and education, rather than relying on Human Resources personnel to infer our skills based on current job titles.

Succeeding in a placement is important, because failing trial periods can decrease our options. Therefore it is important that CTs’ have honed their skills and can demonstrate them.

Human Resources uses skills assessment tests to resolve concerns about a CT’s ability to handle the demands of a particular job.

Because CTs expressed concern about these tests, the CTU installed the same testing software used by HR at our union hall. To practice for the tests, contact Barb Harris (the CTU organizational manager, 355-1903) to set up an appointment.

For answers to CT’s most frequently asked questions about layoffs, flexible appointments and reductions in hours, see the union’s brochure, “What are my layoff rights?” at www.msu.edu/~ctumsu/Brochures/CTU_layoffs.pdf or contact the union office for a copy.
Congratulations, Carol

CT Carol Fosburg, “a one-woman dynamo” according to one of her coworkers in the Institute of Agricultural Technology, became the ninth recipient of the Annual Clerical-Technical Recognition Award at a ceremony held October 22.

The award was established by Dr. Charles and Marjorie Gliozzo in honor of Dr. Gliozzo’s parents to recognize outstanding clerical and technical employees. The award is presented by MSU’s Human Resources.

“I’ve often said of the people who work for me that the only reason I look good is because they do such a good job,” said Assistant Vice President for Human Resources Brent Bowditch in presenting the award. He said CTs are the backbone and infrastructure of MSU and pointed to Fosburg as a great example of a dedicated employee.

October 22—Assistant Vice President for Human Resources Brent Bowditch presents CT Carol Fosburg with the 2010 Clerical-Technical Recognition Award.

“I’ve been here a long time,” said Fosburg, referring to her 41 years working in Agriculture and Natural Resources, “and this is probably the highlight and honor of my employment at Michigan State University. I wouldn’t stay here this long if I didn’t love MSU the way I do and the people and students that I work with.”

Buy Union Week:
Nov. 26 - Dec. 5

The ten days following Thanksgiving are designated by the AFL-CIO as Buy Union Week to encourage union members to look for union-made goods and services when they buy for the Holiday Season.

During difficult economic times, it makes more sense than ever to focus the purchasing power of union families on the goods and services that union families create. Supporting union made products helps keep good jobs in the community, too.

Holiday shopping traditionally kicks off on “Black Friday”—designated as such because it’s the timeframe when many retailers move from red ink to black on their balance sheets. Shoppers will find plenty of “bargains,” but union family shoppers will want to look beyond foreign-made electronics, trendy toys and gadgets to find enduring goods that are union made, or perhaps gift cards for union-productions, movies or sports events, or union-made food stuff—there are still plenty of union-made candies, baked goods, spirits and specialty items.

You could start your shopping list with a visit to www.unionlabel.org and click on Union Products. If you can’t find what you’re looking for there, move on to the websites of individual unions that show up as links on that page.

Frustrated by a lack of union goods on store shelves? Let your retailers know how you feel. If you find shop keepers who are interested and cooperative, thank them for caring.
