OVERVIEW

For this assignment, you are responsible for bringing in some sort of resource you’ve found related to web authoring.

This might be a technical book, a design guide, a how-to article, an online commentary, or a corporate style sheet. This might be a cool t-shirt design that inspired you to think about the colors for a web page you’re working on. It might be a slick, screen-readable font face you found and downloaded. It might be something else entirely...

Plan to show and share the resource and to explain why you think it’s a helpful resource and how web authors might use it (for approximately 3–5 minutes).

You can work individually, or you may work collaboratively with the other person or people scheduled on the same day you are. If you miss your presentation, you must reschedule immediately.

If you’re not sure where or how to get started, check out sites that offer, for instance, great online tutorials and brief articles, such as:

- webmonkey
  hotwired.lycos.com/webmonkey

- killersites
  www.killersites.com

- web page design for designers --> resources
  www.wpdfd.com/wpdres.htm

SCHEDULE

WEEK 9
M 3/14 Bob Darrow, Erin Feeney, Lauren Fox

WEEK 10
M 3/21 Kelli Foy, Rozyn Fulgoni, Dennis Germain
W 3/23 Deb Grace, Annie Kelly, Jimmy Kwun

WEEK 11
M 3/28 Jackie Martin, Lindsay May, Katie McAlpine
W 3/30 Denny Neely, Jen Schmidt, Jason Sheridan

WEEK 12
M 4/4 Abbe Tykwinski, Lynn Wolfbrandt, Stephen Ziel