II. Kant and Morality

A. What is the “good will”?

1. What is it to say that “it is impossible to conceive anything at all in the world … which can be taken as good without qualification, except a good will”? What is the standard?

2. What is it for the good will to be “good in itself”?

B. How is the will related to duty?

1. What is the difference between doing something on the basis of inclination vs. doing it “for the sake of duty”?

2. What is the difference between in conformity with duty and from the motive of duty?

3. What are examples of this?

4. What do these tell us about possession of a good will?

5. Kant’s classification of duty: duties to oneself, duties to others; perfect duties, imperfect duties
C. What are imperatives? How do they relate to the will? How are they related to maxims?

1. How are they classified?
2. How are they possible?

D. Morality and the Categorical Imperative

1. What is the Categorical Imperative? How is it related to duty? To law? To the good will?
2. What are the formulations of the CI?
3. How do these formulations relate to the types of duties?
4. What is the relationship between these formulations?

E. What view of morality emerges from this account? How does it relate to utilitarianism?
