The Graduate Specialization in Ethics and Development announces fellowships for the Spring or Summer terms of 2009.

The funding can be used for any of a number of purposes related to completing the Graduate Specialization in Ethics and Development: dissertation or thesis research, dissertation or thesis completion, travel to conferences or travel for fieldwork or international (or local) “practicum”, including participating in a Study Abroad program.

It is expected that the maximum award will be $5000.

To be assured consideration, application should be submitted by Friday, Dec. 19, 2008 at 4:00 p.m. Applications may be considered after that if funding is available.

The proposal should explain how this funding will aid the student in completing the Graduate Specialization in Ethics and Development.

The application form and instructions will be available at least by Dec. 1 on the website:

https://www.msu.edu/unit/phl/EandDWebsite/index.htm

Overview of the Graduate Specialization in Ethics and Development:

Open to Master’s students (requirement of 9 credits) or Doctoral students (requirement of 12 credits)

All students must take PHL 452 (Ethics and Development) and at least one 800-level course

Students must also complete a practicum which could entail field work carried out in an international context, but could also involve outreach/research carried out locally on a topic related to a development issue

(A fuller description of the requirements of the Specialization is also available on the website.)

For further information, contact the Director of the Specialization, Fred Gifford (gifford@msu.edu)