To Whom It May Concern:

This letter is in high recommendation of Amanda Sollman. I have known Amanda for almost five years as one of my students in the Biotechnology class, a member of the Sanilac County FFA Chapter and friend.

Amanda is one of those people you do not know where to begin. As a high school student, she is one of the most self-motivated, determined to succeed, and well-organized students I have ever seen. As her FFA chapter’s reporter, she has taken control of the class and driven them to succeed at a higher level than they expect for themselves. She is a natural born leader who has an incredible ability to motivate others to be involved and complete tasks that they have been delegated to do. From coming into class early to make sure everything is on track to organizing and filling out all the necessary paperwork are just a few of the ways Amanda shows her determination to be successful.

As a person Amanda has an incredibly positive attitude that helps in her ability to interact with and help the community succeed. She has one of the biggest, warmest hearts of anyone I know. She is always interested in current topics involving her community and agricultural neighborhood. Amanda’s ability to take on many different projects at one time and still be able to balance them all properly will allow her to succeed in any field or career path she may choose.

I would highly recommend her to be a part of your organization to help her in obtaining her goals and dreams. I don’t know of a student who would be more deserving.

I can be reached at the address above or at (810)648-4700 ext.238.

Sincerely

Jennifer Schlueter
